

NOTICE

The Visitor Responsibilities Sign is Posted At

The Rise'N'Swine Farmshop

This sign describes your responsibilities as a visitor on a working farm, which include: obeying directional and “off limits” signs, following instructions and obeying warnings from farm representatives; complying with posted rules of conduct; and exercising reasonable care concerning disclosed risks.

Farm tour visitors must stay with the group being led by the farm representative(s) at all times while visiting. This is a working farm and private property. Farm representatives reserve the right to dismiss any visitor from the property for any reason, including any behavior deemed unsafe, hazardous, or disruptive to others.

- Stay with the tour group at all times
- No entering buildings or fenced in areas without the tour guide's permission
- Do not touch fences or gates. Fences are electrified.
- Do not pick up or touch animals without express permission from the tour guide
- Parents/guardians are responsible for children's behavior
- No climbing of any kind, including gates, hay bales, and structures.

If you do not understand the information contained in the Warning to Visitors or Visitor Responsibilities signs or have any questions about their content, please ask a farm representative for help before you begin your on-farm activity.

If you are accompanied by individuals who need help in understanding the inherent risks of participating in the on-farm activities or the responsibilities of a visitor on a working farm, please explain, or ask farm representative to explain the risks and responsibilities to those people so they understand them.

Risks on this farm may include, but are not limited to: farm equipment and machinery, electric fencing, livestock and farm animals- including cows, pigs, chickens, dogs, cats, and honey bees, gravel and unpaved paths, and bodies of water. Off-limits areas include the immediate vicinity of the home and inside any fenced-in areas.

This sign is pursuant to the Safety in Agricultural Tourism Act of the New York General Obligations Law (GOL) Section 18-303(1)(a)-(e).